Briefly explain your complaint below. Attach additional sheets, if necessary, to clearly document the violations which you believe have occurred.

Dr. McElmurry appropriated ideas that were not his for an NIH research proposal. He also repeatedly claimed that he had been working on Flint water problems since 2010. Dr. McElmurry leveraged those falsifications, into a claim with the State of MI, that he specialized in "urban infrastructure and human health," which put him into position to lead a $3-4 million dollar grant (FACHEP). Due in part to his lack of competence and expertise, this project has led to a high profile prosecution of State of MI Employee's Eden Wells and Nick Lyons, who have been charged with a felony, due to their inability to manage Dr. McElmurry's incompetence to handle a large project.

I have examined the basis for his claims that he worked on Flint water problems since 2010, and while I am open to new information, he repeatedly cites dissertation work of Faust as "his" work. Her hydraulic model is cited as "his" model. McElmurry was merely an external committee member on Ms. Faust's dissertation, and under no reasonable definition, does that count as "his" experience. This claim of work in Flint was repeated to me, State of MI, NIH proposals, and on the Wayne State "expert" newsroom press page, amongst other sources.
